

Homework Instructions

This week's homework is not an assignment that you submit and there is no due date. It is intended to give you additional time for the first group project.

In your study group, read the Introduction chapter of How Learning Works and then pick a subsequent chapter for the group project. Start reading it and create slides.

Preview of the group project: For the week on How Learning Works, you will record a video presentation about the selected chapter to explain it to other students in the course. Your video can be up to 10 minutes and you should upload it on YouTube and then share it on Slack.
