

Communications

Communications

- Course announcements will appear on Canvas. Each project will also have a pinned post at the top of our Ed Discussion forum which you should check regularly, especially before working on an assignment.
- 99% of all matters can be handled on Ed Discussion, the Q&A forum we are using this semester. Do not reach out to the instructor or a TA if your question/problem is one other students might have. Asking on Ed will get you your answer faster and also help others benefit from your asking.
- For matters that must be handled exclusively by the instructor(s), please email cs1110-prof@cornell.edu (<mailto:cs1110-prof@cornell.edu>) or meet with the instructor(s) during their bookable office hours. Please do not email the instructor(s) using their netID email address; it is important to keep all 1110 communication in one place.
- Please do not send messages on Canvas; they don't include a NetID and it has often happened that there were two students with the exact same first and last name and they are indistinguishable on Canvas.
- Although Canvas allows you to comment on assignments, we do not read these comments. This is not a vehicle for discussion about your work or your grade.
- We will distribute grades to you via Gradescope  (<http://gradescope.com>) (for prelims), CMS (<https://cms.csuglab.cornell.edu/>) (for projects), and Canvas (<https://canvas.cornell.edu/courses/60678/>) (everything else).