UNIT 2 Module 3 Reference Across Data Sets

Reference Across Data Sets

Comparing data quickly and efficiently informs business decision making. In this module, you will examine relevant questions and options, such as: How can you add in a number of arguments to test simultaneously? How can you answer many questions and arrive at a final solution based on the rules you set with the criteria that are important to you? In this module, you're working with more complex functions in Excel so that you can arrive at sophisticated and informed decisions, and you're applying these newfound skills to the questions you need to answer in your workplace.
